PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

The Psychology Club of Annammal College of Education serves as a platform for prospective teachers to understand human behaviour, learning processes, mental health, and individual differences among learners. The club aims to create awareness about psychological principles and their application in educational settings. Through various academic and experiential activities, the club helps student teachers develop empathy, emotional competence, counselling skills, and a positive attitude towards learners.

Objectives

- To create awareness about mental health and emotional well-being
- To help student teachers understand the needs and differences of learners
- To develop empathy, communication, and interpersonal skills
- To provide basic knowledge of guidance and counselling
- To encourage positive classroom management and learner support

Activities

- Arranging interactions with psychologists and counsellors
- Conducting quizzes, poster presentations, essay competitions, workshops, awareness programmes and special lectures
- Training student teachers to support learners' psychological needs
- Encouraging participation in psychology-related academic events
