STRAY DOG MANAGEMENT UNIT

The Stray Dog Management Unit of Annammal College of Education for Women has been established to promote awareness and responsible practices related to stray dog welfare and management. The unit works towards educating students and the community on animal welfare, rabies prevention, and the importance of humane treatment of animals. Through various programmes and activities, it aims to cultivate empathy, civic responsibility, and a culture of peaceful coexistence between humans and animals.

Objectives

- To create awareness about animal welfare and humane treatment of stray dogs
- To educate students and the community about rabies prevention and public health
- To facilitate and support programmes related to the vaccination and sustainable management of stray dogs

Activities

- Conducting campaigns on rabies prevention and public health
- Celebrating World Rabies Day and other relevant observance days
- Collaborating with veterinary professionals and animal welfare organizations for expert talks
- Conducting poster competitions, rallies, and educational campaigns on animal welfare
